Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stafford (3707784) in view of Esmonde (1738177) or Carrara (2205344).

Stafford shows a shoe comprising an upper (12 and 14), a rigid sole (18), a rigid heel (20 which appears to be a conventional heel which is rigid as is inherent and well known and conventional), and a multilayer shock absorbing cushion (22) with at least one layer which is thicker in the forefoot portion (shown in figures 7-12, layer 26) substantially as claimed except for a tap plate. Either Esmonde or Carrara teaches providing tap plates on the bottom of soles of shoes for dancing. It would have been obvious to provide tap plates as taught by either Esmonde or Carrara in the shoe of Stafford to allow the shoe to be worn for tap dancing.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 3/17/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicants' arguments directed towards the open toed upper configuration of Stafford and the intended use of the footwear, i.e. tap dancing, it is noted that Stafford specifically states that the "spaced upper elements or straps 12 and the shoe upper heel area 14 forms no part of the present invention and may be varied to suit the aesthetic or design appearance of the shoe that is desired” (column 3 lines 52-56). One of ordinary skill in the art would recognize that to use the shoe of Stafford for tap dancing, one would probably desire to provide an upper configuration which has a closed toe such as the upper configurations taught and shown by Carrara and Esmonde. Since applicant has not positively defined, claimed, or recited any specific upper configuration, no specific rejection has been made directed towards any specific upper configuration. One of ordinary skill in the art would recognize to desire and be able to configure the upper accordingly.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
